Ask Samantha Czankner.

Czankner took an idea she derived from her late grandparents and ran with it.

Even through a pandemic, tradition carried on as the 2021 Intra Borough Boys Basketball Championship game between the Dunmore and Holy Cross High Schools was held on Feb. 21 at Dunmore High School. The game is sponsored by the Dunmore Lions Club to help defray the costs of their college scholarship programs, now in its 40th year. This year the Dunmore Boys upset the Holy Cross team by a score of 64-60. The Bucks are now 5-4 on the season while the Crusaders are 9-2. Both teams are hoping to compete in District Playoffs. Coaches and members of the Dunmore Bucks include, front row from left: Hunter Robertson, Frankie Ruggiero, Christian Buckley, Zack Crusier and Nico Ruggiero. Back row, same order: Assistant Coach Pat Clark, Jeffery Walsh, Dom Temperino, Adriel DeNaples, Tyler Maciejewski, Coach Kevin Clark, Kevin Walsh, Peyton Badykra, and Assistant Coach Paul Biagioli.

kitchen?
Czankner certainly does.
She was the little child in the back helping her grandparents make the chocolate candy.
The Dunmore High School graduate is 30 now and decided to take on a mini version of the family tradition.
She runs a candy business - Candy Lollipops and More - from her home. She started in 2018 and her little candy operation took off.
“I came up with the idea for this after making chocolates for family birthday parties and events” she said.
“I remember watching my grandparents make candy. I helped out a bit and knew I could do it. So I thought why not?”

Czankner has a Facebook page - Candy Lollipops and More - and a web site listed on the page.
Her candy products include chocolate lollipops, solid chocolate pieces, peanut butter cups, peanut butter meltaways, Oreo balls, chocolate covered strawberries, chocolate covered pretzel logs, chocolate covered mini pretzels, cake pops, chocolate covered Rice Krispy treats, chocolate covered Swedish Fish, chocolate covered Oreos, chocolate covered chips, chocolate covered marshmallows, Buckeyes, non perils, white and dark chocolate and candy trays starting at $20.
The Dunmore candy maker markets her products through Facebook, her web site and word of mouth.
Many of her regular customers live in Dunmore and surrounding areas.

Orders can be placed by calling 570-691-9516 or via Facebook. Pickup is in Dunmore or free delivery within 10 miles.
There are Easter eggs and Easter candy bouquets available to order. Lucky Charms green cocoa bombs and green mint hot cocoa bombs will be available for Saint Patrick’s Day.
Special orders were taken recently for Valentine’s Day. “I had 55 customers for Valentine’s Day. One came in from Philadelphia to pick up an order.”
The Dunmore Candy Kitchen, still in operation, was established in 1904 by Jimmy Veras.
The Dunmore Candy Kitchen was taken over in the early 1960’s by Czankner’s late grandfather

Lou Perrella, a long time store employee.
Perrella and his wife Florence ran the Dunmore Candy Kitchen for four decades until his passing Nov. 4, 2000.
However, his wife Florence ran it for a short time until she passed and it turned over to Charles Perrella who ran it for two years until 2009.
Laura Reauther is the current owner of the Dunmore landmark located near Dunmore corners on Drinker Street. She continues to operate it as the Dunmore Candy Kitchen, and it is still extremely popular and reputable.
“So there was quite a candy tradition there and I picked up some of the candy making ideas as a young child,” said Czankner.
The young candy maker said she operates out of her home on Somers Street in Dunmore.

“I usually sell by the pound and the prices are kept very reasonable for the customers. I have one helper, but do most of the candy making myself.
“Things really started to pick up when the COVID-19 pandemic began. COVID certainly made us busier. We made over 700 Oreo bombs for Christmas alone.
“I started out making lollipops for family parties and graduation parties. My grandfather made all kinds of chocolate candy, so the thought was I could too.
“Right now I am doing it out of my home, but I am thinking someday a candy store would be nice.

There was a time in Dunmore when New Year's Eve was celebrated in November.

And it lasted for almost a quarter of a century.

That was when Dunmore's Billy Weller celebrated his birthday and invited over 500 of his best friends, many from Dunmore, to his annual "Weller Bash" held each year in late November from 1979 into the early 2000's until his passing.

Billy was in his early 60's when he died suddenly in the early 2000's ending an era of great kinship among close friends.

"It was like New Year's Eve," former Dunmore Councilman Joe Tomko said. "I never missed it."

And once you were invited to the annual Billy Weller Birthday Bash, you were invited for life.

Weller, who worked in the dietary department of the Moses Taylor Hospital and was a statistician for over 30 years at Dunmore's Schautz Stadium, would hold the annual event for himself and invite over 500 of his best friends at no charge. He expected no gifts.

He would hire eight rock bands who all performed an hour each. The rock bands performed at no charge and were considered his guests. A hot buffet, drinks, cake and all different kinds of pizza and wings would always be served to guests.

"It was like the Who's Who,"

Remembering bashes hosted by Billy Weller said former Dunmore Mayor Patrick "Nibs" Loughney who attended every event since its inception. "It's something you start looking forward to in September," he said. "People start talking about it. By October you really look forward to it. It was better than New Year's Eve."

The annual birthday celebration began in 1979 at the Steering Wheel, Moosic, where it was held through 1985.

Then it was held at the old Palms, Keyser Avenue, Scranton, from 1986 through 1990 before moving to the old Gallagher's, South Blakely Street, Dunmore, from 1991 through 1998 when the establishment closed.

The last several events were held from 1999 until the early 2000's at St. Stanislaus Hall, Old Forge.

"I never receive regrets to my party," Weller once said. "And if I invite you once, it is like a lifetime invitation."

The initial gig began with about 35 people, but grew over the years to over 500.

Weller called it "a reunion of friends" and planned it for his friends to meet and have a good time.

"Billy had so many friends from so many different walks of life," Tomko said. "I would look forward to it every year."

The guest list included Tomko, former Dunmore Mayor Loughney and his wife Donna, former Dunmore Councilman Paul Nardozi, former Dunmore Councilman James McHale, Jr.; late Dunmore School Director James McHale, Sr.; late Dunmore School Director Al Frioni, Sr., former WBRE-TV weatherman Vince "Said it would be like this" Sweeney who always attended with his sister, local TV photographer Tony Ingargiola, former Dunmore Police Chief Sal Mecca, former Moses Taylor Hospital President Andy Anderson, local community activist Chris DiMatteo, Mike "Sid" Hallinan, Rose and William Grochowski, Michelle and Teddy Gresko, Billy Deininger, Larry Sykes, Steve Gall, Stella Nardozi, Laurie Nardozi, Mike Ducas, Matt and Rose Michalek, Dunmore school teachers Richie Sluko, Bill Ross and Bill McDonnell, John and Frannie Loughney, Mark Greenfield, Mike and Sally Celano, Atty. Joe Ferguson, Amy Witko, Tom and Alicia Hallinan, John Farris and various members of local bands.

The lineup of bands included East Coast, Kartune, Take Five, Jim Cullen, Deuce, Double Take, Dakota, Roy Propes and his Elvis Show, Weller's niece Jennifer Taylor, Billy Sullenberger and his Stones show and Charlie Newcombe, an annual guest who provided the lighting and sound system.

One highlight came in 2000 when a couple members of The Buoy's, a high profile rock band of the 1970's, performed their signature hit, "Timothy."

Weller was also a popular local disc jockey who loved music. He enjoyed reading off the list of musicians and usually had a surprise each year to mention during his annual pre birthday bash interviews with The Dunmorean.

His guests usually attended the annual eight-plus hour event from beginning to end, dancing and enjoying the food and drink while not wanting to miss the listed bands perform for an hour each.

Billy would end the night with great enthusiasm, as was his na-

Martha McAndrew is March Artist of the Month at Dunmore Activity Hub

By Martha McAndrew

The picture is of Toby, my small seven-year-old bichon/maltese pet.

I was very fortunate to get him when he was five, because his first family could no longer care for him, and my 17-year old-poodle, McGee III, had just passed away.

I painted Toby a few months ago. He's pictured on my living room carpet and you may have spotted his toys in the picture.

When I retired in 2002, I filled my life with prayer, meditation, golf, and bowling.

Then I decided to take a few one-hour watercolor art classes at the library. I really got hooked on art, and as my 88-year-old bones began to reject golf and bowling, I searched for an art teacher.

Al Ondush, a wonderful artist and great story teller agreed to give me private lessons. I studied with Al for eight years until he sadly passed away in 2019.

At that time I was painting with a group near home that Joyce Harrington joined. She invited me to join the art class at the Dunmore Senior Center where she belonged to a class of about 30 members.

I took her up on her invitation

,even though I lived 10 miles from Dunmore, and I am so happy that I did because it is so much fun there.

Our great art teacher, Jill Swersie, is so helpful and positive. She is a wonderful teacher and a great artist, and she is a friend to all of us. About 25 members work in oils and there are five of us doing watercolors.

Until our class was interrupted by this terrible pandemic, we met on Mondays from 1 to 5 p.m. and we had a wonderful time.

Members brought delicious treats every week and we really enjoyed seeing one another. We had an annual Friday night art show with music and dancing and delicious treats.

Our annual Monday afternoon Christmas party was very enjoyable, as we celebrated with a great sing-along featuring Ruth Boyles on guitar and Dee Noll on piano. We also contributed money for presentation to a worthy charity each year.

Our class recently reconvened on a small basis, but because of the pandemic I have not been there since last spring. I hope that everyone will be vaccinated soon so that our class can get back to normal.

Art has become a really big part of my life. I have one of my paintings printed for my annual Christmas card that I send out to 130 relatives and friends. I fashion other cards to use as birthday greetings, get well cards, and just friendly messages.

I am so grateful that I joined the art class at the Dunmore Senior Center because I have made so many new friends there and I have also benefited from Jill's great instruction.

I have isolated myself because of the virus, and since I have no teacher, I decided to copy Saturday Evening Post covers of the fantastic artist, Norman Rockwell. This endeavor has provided me with hundreds of joyful hours, trying to learn from the master.

I'm almost a Dunmorean because I grew up in Scranton on the 900 block of Monroe Avenue, only five blocks from the Dunmore Senior Center.

In addition, my father was one of 10 siblings who were born and grew up at 152 E. Pine Street in Dunmore. My brother Jim and his wife Mary later lived in that family homestead, where they raised their six children.

I also arranged to have a Hometown Hero poster of my father, Eugene McAndrew, a World War I veteran, displayed at the Turkey Hill Market on Blakely Street for two years. Dunmore is a wonderful town!

AT RIGHT: Martha McAndrew's pet dog Toby. He is a Bichon/Maltese mix, who follows in the footsteps of the late McGee III, a poodle who lived to the ripe old age (for a dog) of 17 years. Martha is March's Artist of the Month at the Dunmore Activity Hub.

Think beyond usual for Lenten meals

Being raised Catholic, Fridays in Lent meant tuna for lunch and pizza or tomato-sauced pasta for dinner. But today we have so many options for "meatless Fridays."

I'm always looking for new ideas for dressing pasta on those "meatless Fridays," rather than plain tomato sauce, clam sauce, pesto, oil and garlic, broccoli and garlic, etc.

So, this month I've poured through my library searching for some new (not same old, same old) non-tomato sauces for pasta. With a few more weeks left to the Lenten season, I'll be serving these in my kitchen:

OLIVE SAUCE FOR PASTA

6 oz. mushrooms, chopped

14 oz. pasta
2 Tbsp. olive oil
1 clove garlic, crushed
6 oz. pitted black olives
3 Tbsp. parsley, chopped
4 Tbsp. butter
Salt
1/4 tsp. red pepper flakes (optional)
8 Tbsp. cream
2 oz. grated Parmesan cheese

Saute' mushrooms in oil then blend with garlic, olives and parsley in food processor. Cook pasta in boiling water about 8 minutes until al dente. Meanwhile, melt butter in a pan and cook olive mixture with salt and pepper flakes for 5 minutes to release flavors. Stir in cream. Add Parmesan cheese. Toss with pasta and serve. Serves 4.

FETTUCINE WITH CHARDONNAY RED PEPPER SAUCE

2 cups Chardonnay wine
2 large roasted red peppers (can be canned....just drain)
1 cup heavy cream
1/4 cup fresh basil, packed
1/2 cup Parmesan cheese, grated
12 oz. fettucine, prepared al dente

Boil wine until it is reduced to 1/2 cup. Puree' peppers and add to wine; stir in cream. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cut basil into strips and add to sauce. Add sauce to pasta and toss well. Toss with grated Parmesan and serve. Serves 4.

PASTA WITH SHRIMP AND JALAPENO ORANGE SAUCE

6 Tbsp. butter
24 medium shrimp, peeled and deveined
2 Tbsp. minced shallots
1 small jalapeno chili, seeded, thinly sliced (or use 1/2 tsp. of chopped canned chiles)
1/2 cup dry white wine
1 1/2 cups orange juice
3/4 cup whipping cream
Salt and pepper to taste
1 lb. pasta (angel hair, if possible)
Parsley, for garnish

Melt butter in heavy large skillet over medium-high heat. Add shrimp and cook until just pink, approximately one minute per side. Transfer shrimp to a plate. Add shallots and jalapeno to skillet and saute' 1 minute. Add wine and bring to boil. Mix in orange juice and cream.

Boil until reduced to thin sauce, stirring occasionally (approximately 10-15 minutes). Season to taste with salt and pepper. Cook pasta in boiling, salted water until al dente; drain. Add shrimp to sauce and cook until heated through. Add pasta and toss well. Sprinkle with minced fresh parsley. Makes 6-8 servings.

SHRIMP AND LINGUINE WITH SHERRY CREAM SAUCE

3 Tbsp. butter
1 lb. medium shrimp, shelled and deveined
1 Tbsp. chopped garlic
2 tsp. chopped shallot
6 Tbsp. cream sherry
1 cup heavy cream
3 Tbsp. chopped fresh parsley
Salt and freshly ground pepper, to taste
8 oz. linguine, cooked al dente and drained

Heat butter in large skillet over medium heat until melted. Increase heat to medium-high. Add shrimp, garlic and shallot. Saute' for 15-20 seconds. Stir in sherry.

Add cream, parsley, salt and pepper and mix well. Cook until shrimp turn pink, stirring constantly. Remove shrimp with slotted spoon to a bowl. Cover to keep warm.

Cook sauce until reduced by 1/4,

To serve, spoon hot pasta onto 3 dinner plates. Divide shrimp evenly between servings. Drizzle with sauce. Serves 3.

LINGUINE WITH SCALLOPS, SHRIMP AND SNOW PEAS

1 lb. linguine

1/2 lb. bay scallops
1/2 lb. medium shrimp, shelled and deveined
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. freshly ground pepper
2 cups snow peas, blanched
3/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook linguine until al dente; drain. Toss with melted butter. Heat remaining 5 Tbsp. butter in large skillet. Add garlic and saute' until softened. Add scallops, shrimp, salt and pepper. Saute' for 3-4 minutes or until they are opaque. Add snow peas and heat through. Toss mixture with linguine. Add cheese and serve at once. Serves 4-6.

1-8 oz. pkg. cream cheese
1 stick butter

Dunmore's Moriah Murray scores 1,000th point in her junior year

By Steve Svetovich

Dunmore junior Moriah Murray scored her 1,000th career point and three weeks later led her team to another Lackawanna League Division III title.

And then COVID-19 placed a pause in the fate of the Dunmore girls basketball program in the hands of District administrators.

At press time, a total of three Dunmore girls players tested positive for COVID and because of the timing and state mandated quarantine protocols, the earliest the Lady Bucks can return to action is Friday, March 5.

The team is currently seeded second in the Class 4A playoffs, but the dates initially posted by District 2 call for that bracket to begin play Thursday, March 4.

Eight other Lackawanna League teams are also on pause due to COVID protocols.

Daughter of Joe Murray and Lynn Plotkin, Moriah said she and her teammates remain prepared, focused and ready for the district playoffs.

"We are on pause now with nine teams affected due to COVID," she said. "We won the league title and we've been practicing hard. We will be ready for everything. We can't wait to get going again. We will take it game by game."

Moriah hit five 3-pointers and scored 21 points as No. 2 Dunmore clinched the Lackawanna League Division III title with a 71-35 win over No. 6 Old Forge Wednesday, February 24.

Ciera Toomey added 17 points and Cadence Lewis added 10 points for the Lady Bucks.

Three weeks prior, Moriah reached a personal milestone scoring her 1,000th career point in a 71-45 win over Holy Cross Wednesday, February 3. The junior standout reached the milestone on a 3-pointer in the third quarter.

Moriah scored 15 points in her milestone game. Toomey led the Lady Bucks with 19 points. Anna Talutto added 18.

The Lady Bucks are 16-1 under veteran coach Ben O'Brien going into playoff action.

Moriah took a pause to reflect on her 1,000th point. "It was kinda crazy," she said. "You don't think about the points, but rather about your teammates and coaches who put you in a position to accomplish something like that."

"My heart stopped when the buzzer sounded."

"It was just such a great feeling."

Moriah has a 92 academic average. Her best academic subject is math.

She committed to play college basketball at Drexel University in Philadelphia. She will play there with Riverside standout basketball player Kylie Lavelle, another junior and 1,000-point scorer who is a good friend.

"I am undecided on a major, but I am looking forward to playing basketball with Kylie at Drexel. She is a very good friend. We played in AAU leagues together over the years. I am looking forward to the type of intensity of basketball at that level."

Moriah has learned a lot about the game of basketball from her dad. She started at a young age playing in AAU leagues. She said her parents always taught her to "be myself."

Confident and articulate, Moriah said her Lady Bucks team has a simple goal.

"Get into the districts and win the district playoffs. Then win the state playoffs. We were on our way last year when COVID struck. We feel there is a need to finish off a goal. And we are ready for it. We want a state championship. We don't want to come up short for any reason. We'll go game to game until we reach our goal."

"I am not even thinking about college now. I am excited about that down the road. But right now I am focusing on Dunmore and our team."

The junior scholar-athlete is a member of the French Club and TACT at Dunmore. She is also a key member of the Lady Bucks softball team as a shortstop and pitcher.

Moriah started playing in AAU leagues at age seven, "It was such a great experience," she said. "I picked up so many skills and moves from the other girls in the AAU leagues."

Moriah said she loves Dunmore and her friends and teammates. "I just love the whole Dunmore experience," she said.

"I love the whole town of Dunmore. It is such a small borough. Everyone is so close, especially our basketball team. We have been together through thick and thin."

Dom Temperino is three-sport stalwart at Dunmore High

By Steve Svetovich

He was All Regional in football and averages over 11 points and eight rebounds in basketball, yet baseball is his best sport.

That is Dunmore senior three-sport standout Dom Temperino.

Son of June and Jack Miles, Dunmore, Dom is all about Dunmore High School, having great friends and playing sports.

"I love it here," he said.

After being named first team Lackawanna Conference all-star and to the All Regional football team as a defensive end, Dom wasted no time getting ready for the basketball season.

He made his presence known on the hardwood when he scored seven of his game high 18 points in the fourth quarter of Dunmore's come from behind win, 57-54, over Riverside Saturday, January 30. He added 10 rebounds in the big win.

The All Regional senior defensive end recorded 30 tackles and five and one-half sacks in just a five game season for Dunmore.

He was a four-year member of the Dunmore football team. Dom, 18, is a member of the French Club, TACT and has a 90 academic average. He is a four-year member of the basketball team and also plays baseball for the Bucks.

And with all of his football and basketball accolades, he said baseball is his best sport. Dom plays first and third base for Dunmore and hit .335 as a sophomore. His team was unable to play in his junior year due to COVID-19.

"I really like baseball the best and look forward to playing this year," he said.

Dom said he enjoys playing football for Dunmore coach Kevin McHale. "He is a great coach and I learned a lot from him."

A forward averaging 11.2 points per game on the basketball team, Dom said his coach Kevin Clark teaches him about the value of hard work. "Coach Clark tells us we can accomplish anything with hard work. With hard work, it pays off in the end. "Hard work beats talent."

The senior scholar-athlete said he will attend West Chester University and study criminal justice in the fall. "I would like to play baseball there. Eventually, I want to become a state policeman or a corrections officer."

Humble and hard working, Dom said he enjoys listening to music in his spare time and would like to see Motley Crue in concert.

He talked about goals. "I want to help Dunmore win district titles in both basketball and baseball this year. I want to graduate with honors and go on and do well in college."

Dom said he will never forget his experience at Dunmore High School.

"It is the greatest school and I love being a part of it all," he said. "Everyone is great here."

"I would not trade it for anything else in the world. Dunmore is the best place to grow up. There is nothing better."

DHS athletic director Mark Finan finds way through COVID-19

By Zack Albert
Dunmorean Intern

As we continue through the 2020-2021 academic and athletic seasons, we are highlighting the time and effort put in by Dunmore Athletic Director Mark Finan and his teams.

The completion and success of the 2020 football and 2020 volleyball seasons are examples of accepting the responsibilities involved in keeping everyone as safe as possible while setting a foundation for the winter and spring sports seasons.

With a similar diligence to remaining safe in preparation, the basketball teams are continuing their seasons and are approaching the playoffs.

When asked about preparation for these athletic and academic seasons, Finan explains: "Summertime is the start; scheduling the junior high and seven varsity sports for the upcoming fall seasons with the unknowns still present was a challenge. We actively communicate with the PIAA and LIAA and take this as seriously as anything you can plan for.

"Scheduling challenges include ensuring officials, workers, security are all available for the scrimmages, exhibitions before the regular seasons begin. We are thankful the fall seasons went through as smoothly as they did."

Following up on that response, we asked about how he responded to the positive COVID-19 result of a member of the boys' basketball program, and we thank his candidness in his response:

"First action was to reach out to the member of the program who tested positive, checking on his status. The next was communicating with the COVID-19 Coordinator, and then all staff within the program. Continuing to follow all protocols and advice from the health and sporting organizations as we play the postponed games is key to ensuring we qualify for a league title as safely as we can."

We then asked Finan if there were differences in preparation per sport, and his response prompted his questions of how mask mandates will be applied in baseball and softball.

"For a sport like basketball, where glasses are less likely to fog up with the indoor-controlled conditions, the mask mandate was easier to adjust to. In a sport like baseball or softball, with the ball as dangerous to the human body as it is, it is not as simple to mandate the mask, as it can cause glasses to fog up and compromise the safety of our student athletes, he explains.

"I am looking forward to having discussions with all entities involved in getting a solution, potentially the Gaiter mask, which is becoming more popular, in place for all to safely enjoy these sports."

We then asked about any learning points through the pandemic able to be used moving forward, and before explaining further, he emphatically says "Absolutely."

"The Return to Safe Play Plan continues to be reviewed as we continue towards normalcy. We've created great services to the community through a multitude of platforms. First, with the help of Rich Banick, we have launched DHSTV.net, which uses YouTube to host the videos, where we are broadcasting each home game live.

"We thank Nick Mack of NPF for basketball play-by-play, and statistician Robert (RG4) Grady for streaming our swim team coverage. Social media outlets like Twitter are also used for those not yet familiar with our video streaming service."

We asked if there are any other announcements, comments, and Finan did have one:

"We are bringing back the Golden Age Pass for all Dunmore citizens 62 years or older, as we want our long-term Bucks at the events and knowing they are appreciated for attending!"

'Nibs' Loughney running for Mayor

Patrick "Nibs" Loughney has announced that he is running for Mayor of Dunmore with the following statement:

"It is with great pride in my hometown that I formally announce my candidacy for Mayor of Dunmore Borough. Having previously served as your Mayor for 24 years, I developed a great working relationship with the residents of the Borough as well as our municipal employees.

Scholar of the Month. . .

Samantha Humen

Samantha Humen, a junior music performance major at Marywood University, was recently notified that she is the winner of the 2021 Marywood Concerto Competition. The competition is held each November, and the winner is featured in the orchestra's spring concert, which will be held on April 11.

Ms. Humen auditioned for the competition with Mozart's G major Flute Concerto, Movement 1. A talented musician, Ms. Humen, prior to attending Marywood University, was a member of the Northeastern Youth Wind Ensemble, as well as Marywood's collegiate Wind Ensemble.

"I was drawn to the music program at Marywood University because of the individual attention from faculty—not just in the music department, but the University as a whole," Ms. Humen said.

In addition to her music performance major, Ms. Humen is minoring in world religions. Knowing that she wanted to pursue a minor, she explored multiple paths, including philosophy and psychology, but it was the minor in world religions that interested her most.

Looking to the future, Ms. Humen hopes to combine her passions of music and world religions to serve as the basis for her master's thesis when the time comes.

"I want to determine the differences and similarities between Western and Eastern perspectives on music and how music incorporated into specific religious ceremonies across the globe is viewed. I don't have a title just yet, but I will present my findings during Research Day during the spring 2021 semester," Ms. Humen said.

While Ms. Humen began playing piano at age 5, it was a best friend who helped ignite her passion for becoming a flutist at age 12. Ms. Humen said, "One of my best friends let me try playing her flute, a difficult instrument. I was determined to master it."

At Marywood, Ms. Humen credits the faculty, who not only encourage her interests, but who also coach her through those interests. As a freshman, she wanted to put on a freshman elective chamber music recital. "The faculty listened to my initiative, coached me through the process, and helped me secure the resources for my recital," Ms. Humen said.

Following graduation, Ms. Humen hopes to audition for a master in music performance degree program. Ideally, she wants to pursue teaching in higher education, or teaching flute students while continuing to perform.

William ‘Trip’ O’Malley running for seat on Dunmore Council

William “Trip” O’Malley has announced his candidacy for Dunmore Borough Council.

The 45-year-old Democratic, says, “As a sixth generation resident of the borough, I believe that Dunmore is the best little town in America and I will serve to keep it that way for future generations.

“I originally decided to run for Borough Council due to my opposition to the proposed 42-year expansion of the Keystone Sanitary Landfill and the potential health and safety issues it could bring.

“The DEP may issue a decision on the expansion before the election, but I will never stop fighting for the clean air and water that borough residents deserve.”

Additionally, O’Malley says, “I am also very concerned about the borough’s finances. There is currently $6.8 million left from the $18 million the borough received from the sale of the Scranton Sewer Authority.

“That money will be gone in a few years if the borough continues to balance its budgets using those proceeds.

“I will work to see that our tax dollars are being spent wisely and our budgets are balanced responsibly. I will always act in the best interest of our nine square miles and the 14,000+ residents of the borough.

“As a Social Studies teacher of over two decades, I know that public service is a privilege and I will work diligently for all Dunmoreans and the future of our great borough. I humbly ask for your vote on May 18.”

O’Malley has been an American history and psychology teacher for 22 years at Dunmore High School, where he has also served as Student Activities Adviser for 17 years.

He is a current member of the Dunmore Democratic Committee and former member of the Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee.

O’Malley and his wife, Laura have three sons, Will, 8; Rory, 7, and Miles, 5.

DOIN DUNMORE: Billy Weller's bash

ture, prancing, dancing and singing his signature song, "Teenager in Love." No one wanted to miss that ending.

And if you thought the late Warren Zevon on was "The Excitable Boy," you should have seen Billy Weller.

Another signature moment would come midway through the event when Billy did "The Twist," with guests dancing around him.

Billy hoped to continue with his annual bash into his late 70's and beyond.

"I look at this as a gala," he once said. "It is like a wedding, a New Year's Eve event, It is quite an endeavor."

Weller was the DJ for many years at Dunmore's annual Crime Watch event. He performed at local weddings, special events and block parties in the Dunmore borough.

"He was the Dick Clark of Dunmore," Nibs said. "He was 62 going on 16."

"He was really amazing, very special. And he is surely missed."

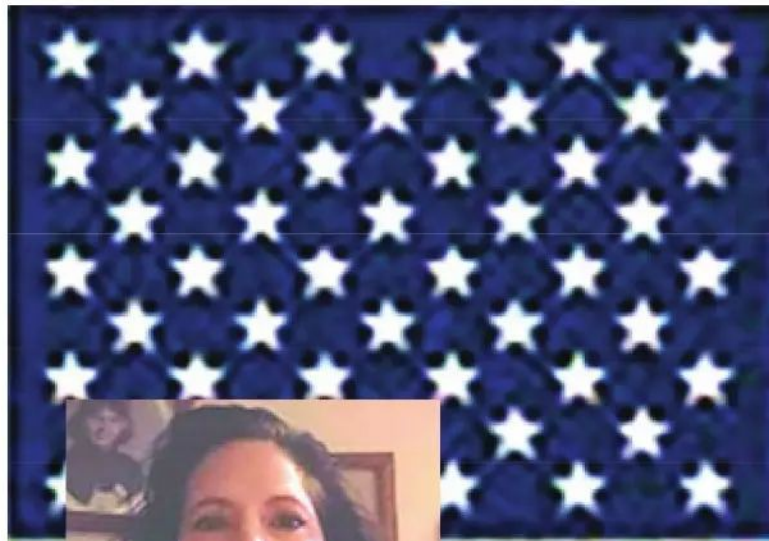

Today the annual Billy Weller Bash is just a great memory, gone for the past two decades with Billy's passing.

But those who attended still smile and never forget.

Billy Weller impacted many.

It truly was a wonderful life.

And November will never be quite the same in Dunmore.

Mark 'Max' Conway Jr. has announced run for Mayor of Dunmore Borough

Mark "Max" Conway Jr. has announced his intention to run for Mayor of Dunmore in the Primary Election on May 18. He is a graduate of Dunmore High School and Temple University which is where he met his fiancé, Ally Gallo.

Following his graduation, Max worked for Senator Robert P. Casey Jr. after which he ran Congressional campaign finances in California and New Jersey. Following his time in politics, Max returned to the area and is now associated with Christian Saunders Real Estate.

Working in real estate has made him very aware of the challenges facing residential and commercial property owners and Dunmore residents as a whole.

"Dunmore is at a critical

crossroads...from looming budget issues to a health and wellness crisis that has existed for far too long" says Conway. "The time has come to ask ourselves; what kind of a community do we want to be? With the right people and plans in place, we can start to look to a Dunmore that is more advanced, healthy and prosperous."

Max is the son of Mark J. Conway and the late Mollie Maloney Conway. He was raised in a large Dunmore family where learned the value of respect, participation in the community and the importance of giving back to that community.

Max is enthusiastic about sharing his ideas and will be posting his platform ideas on Facebook and discussing them with residents as he campaigns throughout the borough.
